governments to give their colonial areas the benefits of civilization and to encourage their ambitions for betterment.

Had Communist nations been in control of these colonial lands and peoples, they would never have permitted them to become free nations. In fact, every attempt for freedom would have been ruthlessly stamped out with the cruel and sanguinary force for which communistic revolutionary power is unmatched.

If war between the great nations of the free world and the Communist agglomeration were to come today, the large group of newly formed independent nations would undoubtedly strive to be neutral, thus denying the free nations the indispensable supplies and materials the newly formed nations could supply. Time alone will record the outcome.

In this general connection, it should be noted that these newly established nations are too weak to prevent communistic revolutionary infiltration. They are becoming saturated with bolshevistic influences, which may render these governments powerless to act, either for their own protection or for defending the principles of liberty which they have undertaken to adopt.

Because of the situation thus presented, there are many thoughtful lovers of liberty who, with knowledge of the past and vision for the future, seriously doubt whether the establishment of these new nations is timely. They are of the opinion that such establishments should have been deferred until the terrible menace of communistic revolution had passed and a lasting peace attained.

It is, indeed, gratifying to note that the newly created government of Jamaica has given assurances that it will stand on the side of freedom and that to this end it will furnish any needed bases which the United States may desire for the defense of the strategic Caribbean. It is to be hoped that Jamaica's example may be followed by other newly created countries that are dedicated to the concept of free government; but we doubt that this will be true. Soviet power is so ruthless, cruel, and aggressive, that these small, weak countries can be intimidated to the point of extinction.

To face this danger, all nations dedicated to the principles of freedom, either new or old, must unite in a solid phalanx against the perils of communistic revolutionary assault or communism may indeed dominate the world.

A news story from Kingston on Jamaica's position follows:

[From the Evening Star, Washington (D.C.), Aug. 8, 1962]

MILITARY BASE PLEDGED BY JAMAICA

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, August 8.—If the United States ever needs a military base in newly independent Jamaica, it can establish one without commitments, Prime Minister Sir Alexander Bustamante said last night.

Sir Alexander told a news conference the United States has not asked for such a base nor should his statement be construed as an invitation to Washington to set one up on this Caribbean island 90 miles south of Cuba.

Sir Alexander said the United States and Jamaica "are friendly nations and the United States can come in when and if it pleases."

The United States maintained bases in Jamaica during World War II under the destroyers-for-bases deal made by Prime Minister Churchill. The bases were returned after the war.

TWO BULWARKS NOW

Since then, the bulwarks of U.S. defense of the Caribbean approaches to the Panama Canal have been Puerto Rico and the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, 150 miles northeast of Jamaica.

The United States maintains the Guantanamo base under a lease in perpetuity and has rejected Prime Minister Fidel Castro's demands that it surrender the base.

Britain handed Jamaica's foreign affairs before the island became independent Monday, Princess Margaret, representing her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, turned over full governmental powers to the Western Hemisphere's newest nation in a brief ceremony yesterday.

Sir Alexander declined to say whether he discussed an increase in U.S. aid to Jamaica with Vice President LYNDON B. JOHNSON, who led the U.S. delegation to the Jamaican independence celebrations. Sir Alexander denied, however, that Jamaica's friendly relations with the United States suggested U.S. efforts to draw the island away from the British Commonwealth.

NO CUBAN RELATIONS

He said Jamaica had "no immediate plan" to establish diplomatic relations with Cuba or with Iron Curtain countries.

Mr. JOHNSON appeared weary yesterday from the nearly nonstop, campaign-style schedule he had maintained since Sunday.

He made a helicopter visit yesterday to the mountain camps of the Jamaican Youth Corps, where American Peace Corpsmen also are at work, and exhorted the youths to "work in harmony and mobilize" to take advantage of what the free world has to offer.

PERSONAL ANNOUNCEMENT

(Mr. MACDONALD (at the request of Mr. ALBERT) was granted permission to extend his remarks at this point in the Record.)

Mr. MACDONALD. Mr. Speaker, I received an official leave of absence from the House on Monday, August 27, and Tuesday, August 28, due to illness in my family. I was, therefore, not recorded on three rollcall votes on Monday. Had I been present I would have voted "yea" on each of the following bills: Rollcall No. 202, Senate Joint Resolution 29, proposing an amendment to the U.S. Constitution outlawing payment of poll or other tax as qualification for voting in Federal elections; rollcall No. 203, House Resolution 769, providing for concurring in Senate amendments to H.R. 11040, to provide for establishment, ownership, operation, and regulation of a communication satellite system; and rollcall No. 204, H.R. 12628, to provide additional funds under section 202(a)(4) of the Housing Act of 1959, to amend title V of the Housing Act of 1949, to provide low and moderate cost housing, both urban and rural, for the elderly. Although I was paired on these bills I did want the Record to show that I fully support the three legislative bills listed above.
